

ABSTRACT

A computer implemented method, apparatus, and software for automatically generating and rendering a custom view including at least two viewlets from two different applications. A defined activity sequence is received from a user in which the activity sequence includes at least two viewlets from two applications, respectively. The received activity sequence is associated with the user. The activity sequence and the associated user are stored as a user context. A custom view is rendered to the user based on the stored user context.